

Informal Interpretation Report
Number 6962

Date April 26, 2012

Edition 2010

Section Table 1016.1

Question:

Is it the intent of Table 1016.1 that the primary occupancy shall govern allowable travel distance for all spaces throughout the building?

Answer

As an incidental use, the provisions of the primary occupancy apply. However, the room could be classified a mixed occupancy and separated accordingly, and the travel distance applicable to occupants of the mixed occupancy could be applied for that space only Or treated as an Accessory Occupancy or Mixed Use Nonseparated where the occupancies are individually classified and the requirements of the Code apply to each portion of the building based on the occupancy classification of that space.

Commentary:

None.

Notice:

The Building Officials Association of Florida, in cooperation with the Florida Building Commission, the Florida Department of Business & Professional Regulation, ICC, and industry and professional experts offer this interpretation of the Florida Building Code in the interest of consistency in their application statewide. This interpretation is informal, non-binding and subject to acceptance and approval by the local building official.